

Dark Horse Hoops Report: Gage Davis

Position: Sg

Class: Sr.

Height: 196 cm

Weight: 93 kg

26ppg/7.7reb/2.6ast

.53fg/.36 3ptfg/.80ft

DHH NET RATING

87/100

Progress Arrow

Strengths

Offense: Intuitive scorer who uses a crafty handle and terrific bag of counters to find himself makeable shots... Was the fulcrum of the offense facing constant double teams and still maintained efficiency on a high volume... Does a great job taking what the defense gives him regardless of where they are playing him on the floor.

Defense: Does a solid job using his length both on the ball and in the passing lanes. Not incredibly quick on his feet laterally but does a good job tracking his man off the ball. Great rebounder at his position who really displays a nose for the ball.

Weaknesses

Offense: Not an explosive athlete... The first step is good enough against D2 defenses but will struggle against more laterally effective defenders... Can get tunnel vision and freeze out teammates on occasion... Will settle for mid-range jumper too often when he has opportunities to attack the rim.

Defense: Needs to fight harder through off-ball screens... Was screened off of shooters and smaller guards far too often... Didn't create a ton of turnovers given his size advantage against most competition... Looks like he's saving himself for the offense end too often.

Intangibles

Extremely competitive individual who seemed like he took big matchups personally throughout the season. Not much is known about his off-court hobbies or personalities. Staff around the program spoke highly about his development as a leader on the court over his four years at St. Cloud.

Overview

A fluid and smooth scorer who consistently found ways to overcome defenses that schemed specifically for him. Despite average athleticism and length he finds a way to play hard and should find a way to please coaches with his diverse offensive game.